The Julep: A Brief History

Webster's Dictionary describes a Julep as "a drink consisting of a liquor (such as bourbon or brandy) and sugar, poured over crushed ice and garnished with mint."

When people hear the word "Julep" their first thought is typically of the Kentucky Derby, and rightfully so. The Julep has been the official drink of the Derby since 1938, and like any classic, this one also comes with a story.

Traditionally made with brandy, Bourbon was introduced into the picture when a shortage of brandy and cognac nearly resulted in a frenzied uprising. Thankfully, Kentucky stepped in and saved the day with its smooth tasting, slick drinkin', hand crafted bourbon. The rest, as they say, is history.

Here at the Foundry, we are all about history. In fact, did you know that, once upon a time, there were horses on the very land where Four Flocks now sits? Well, now that you do, it's clear as daylight why we're so proud to offer an extensive Julep menu. Whether you're looking for a classic tribute or a swanky twist, we've got you covered. And, we're willing to bet our money on a bobtail nag that you'll be coming back for more.
